

Principles of leadership, when mastered, are applicable in any environment – whether business, education, health care, government, or social services. According to “Job Outlook 2015”, published by the National Association of Colleges and Employers, leadership is the most important skill employers want to see on a candidate’s résumé.

The Leadership major at Curry College is an interdisciplinary, team-based program that combines theory and real-world practice. The curriculum includes a foundation of leadership and management courses, as well as essential communication and psychology courses. Assignments and action-learning projects empower students to develop industry-standard leadership competencies.

Why earn a bachelor’s degree in Leadership?

- Advance your career and gain professional growth opportunities
- Learn effective leadership skills to manage, influence, persuade, and motivate diverse workplace populations
- Improve strategic-thinking, problem-solving, presentation, and communication skills
- Gain the academic foundation for future graduate work

Program Highlights

20-Month degree completion. This accelerated degree program is designed for students who have earned an associate degree or equivalent (60 credits).

Convenient schedule. All courses are delivered in a blended format - combining in-class and online assignments. Classes meet on campus one evening per week.

Cohort-based learning. Curry’s vibrant, cohort learning model leverages the diverse professional experiences of each student to create an engaging, interactive classroom environment and supportive network of colleagues.

Hands-on learning for the real world. The core of the leadership program is an action-learning project that provides students with ongoing opportunities to demonstrate leadership skills in real-life settings.

Fixed tuition. This 60-credit cohort program offers a highly-competitive total package tuition rate that will not change during the 20-month enrollment period.
